Two Children Die In Fire At Williamsport

BURNS FATAL TO BOY, 9, GIRL 3; EIGHT HOMELESS

Flames Destroy Trailer While Parents Are Away From Home

Family of eight was made homeless and four small children were burned, two fatally, by a fire which virtually destroyed a trailer house Wednesday afternoon at Williamsport.

The dead: Earnest Eugene Cox, 9; his sister, Delores Gene Cox, 2.

Curtiss Lee Cox, 5, was badly burned and is in Berger hospital, Circleville. Woodrow Nelson Cox, 7, was slightly burned. He was brought to the hospital but not treated.

Deputy Sheriff Vern Pontious said that Carey Cox and his wife, Helen Siders Cox, the parents, were absent and that their six children ranging in age from 8 months to 9 years had been left alone in the trailer house.

Earnest, the eldest youngster, decided to pop some corn and he proceeded to kindle a fire in a stove. When he poured kerosene into the stove it exploded and spattered the flaming fluid over the trailer.

His clothing afire Earnest ran screaming from the trailer. He was overtaken in nearby alley by Roy Johnson. Glen Wallace pulled Delores, her clothing ignited, through a window of the trailer. Earnest and Delores were removed to Berger hospital in Kirk funeral home car, but Earnest died at 5 p.m. Wednesday. Delores died in the hospital at 9:45 p.m. Wednesday. (Continued on Page Two)

Death Toll Mounts In U.S. Holiday

By United Press

Americans observed their first postwar memorial day in pre-war style. The same old automobiles sped over the same old highways to bring a return of the peacetime automobile accident and death rate.

At least 109 persons were killed in accidents yesterday. Of these, 44 were killed in traffic accidents; 34 were drowned; and 31 died from falls, fires and other miscellaneous causes.

In Ohio the number of deaths stood at eight, including three persons drowned and three in traffic accidents.

The National Safety Council had predicted that 57 persons would be killed in automobile accidents. The council's figure included those who would die subsequently or injuries suffered on the holiday.

The greatest number of motorists since 1941 swarmed over the highways to begin a four-day week end of travel. The safety council said at least 329 persons died in week-end traffic accidents.

BRICKER BLASTS STRIKERS DRAFT

Republican Senate Nominee Says Truman Plan Is 'Abhorrent'

GETTYSBURG, Pa., May 31—John W. Bricker, three times governor of Ohio and Republican nominee for the U. S. senate, terms the suggestion for drafting strikers into the Army "abhorrent to the American way of life."

In the principal speech at the annual Memorial Day services on this community's historic battlefield before thousands of visitors yesterday, Bricker unleashed a blistering attack on President Truman's administration, centering the war on labor policies.

Bricker commanded the President for taking a "positive, even though belated position," in the recently ended railway strike.

"But," he added, "the proposal which he has offered is wholly incompatible with the fundamental concepts of a free society. The suggestion for drafting strikers into the Army is abhorrent to the American way of life."

The Army never has been, and it should not be now, used for punitive purposes. Service to one's country under the flag is an honorable status. It should never be degraded from the noble spirit in which those who lie here served.

DAMAGE FROM SHORT TORNADO OVER MILLION

CRESTON, Ia., May 31—City officials said today that a 20-minute tornado that swept through Creston yesterday caused at least $1,000,000 damage.

The tornado skipped through this town of 8,500 population, leaving in its wake at least 100 damaged houses, streets filled with rubble, and broken power, telephone and telegraph lines.

No fatalities were reported, but several persons were injured.

Church steeples and the tower of the Union county courthouse were wrecked and a warehouse was demolished. Twenty-four freight cars on the Burlington system tracks were overturned.

Hailstones one and a half inches in diameter, caused considerable damage to corn fields near the city.

TRUMAN WANTS STETTINIUS TO STAY WITH UN

Rift With Byrnes Hinted As U. S. Representative On Council Resigns

WASHINGTON, May 31—President Truman said today that Edward R. Stettinius Jr. had submitted his resignation as U. S. representative on the United Nations security council but that the President is trying to persuade him to remain on the job.

Mr. Truman said at his news conference that Stettinius sent a letter of resignation to the White House two or three days ago. The President has not yet answered it.

Mr. Truman said both he and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes wanted Stettinius to stay. The President added that Stettinius' desire to resign had been a surprise to him.

President Truman said he hoped that Stettinius would reconsider the resignation. The President said he thought Stettinius would stay on the UN job.

Stettinius told Mr. Truman in his letter of resignation that he thought the original job he assumed on UN—to stay with it until the organization was well under way—was completed.

However, the organization currently is in the midst of a grave crisis with considerable skepticism, even in security council circles, about the future of the organization.

Mr. Truman said he would not act upon Mr. Stettinius' resignation until he had sent him a letter requesting him to remain as U. S. representative at UN.

His desire to quit was disclosed amid circumstances which indicate differences between Stettinius and Byrnes, and dissatisfaction by Stettinius with the way Byrnes ignores and by-passes him on all important issues.

SHOE CEILINGS BOOSTED BY OPA

Low-Priced Footwear Prices Go Up 10 To 15 Per Cent To Boost Production

WASHINGTON, May 31—OPA today increased ceiling prices on standard low-priced shoes 10 to 15 per cent to spur production.

The order takes effect immediately at both manufacturer and consumer levels. It is expected to affect one-fourth of the present shoe production.

Examples of the retail price increase: men's and women's shoes which sold for $4.30 in 1942 will cost from $4.75 to $4.95; children's shoes that sold for $2.50 in 1942 will cost from $2.75 to $2.85.

Shoes selling at the higher prices must be similar to the 1942 models in style and ruggedness.

OPA admitted that low-priced shoes—particularly for women—largely disappeared from the market during the war.

COSHOCTON, O., May 31—Marshall Jacobs, 35, who won previous fame in Coshocton by outclimbing a "human fly," idled away the time today atop a 176-foot pole where he vowed to perch until the Fourth of July.

Jacobs, first of the postwar sitters out to seek new endurance laurels, hoisted himself atop the flagpole on the Coshocton fairgrounds yesterday. His parents said he had been training for the contest since he was two years old.

The beginning of the 35-day sit was marked by appropriate ceremonies, including a speech by Mayor William E. Martin who

SOLONS STUDY REORGANIZATION

25c Coal Price Increase Expected; Miners Return

WASHINGTON, May 31—The ceiling price on soft coal today was expected to rise as much as 25 cents per ton as a result of the wage contract signed between the government and John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

Informed sources said that the contract will increase production costs 30 cents per ton, but the operators probably will absorb about five cents of the increase.

This would be the amount absorbed by the operators in 1945. It is the equivalent of the five-cents per ton royalty which the government has agreed to pay into a miners' welfare fund administered by the government and the union. Miners also get an 18½ cent per hour pay increase.

The report recommended:

1. Appointment of at least one administrative assistant for each congressman to "run errands and knock on departmental doors."

2. Increasing congressional pay to $15,000 a year (senators now receive $10,000; representatives, $10,000 plus a $25,000 expense allowance).

3. Approval of a three-month congressional vacation each year.

4. Creation of a retirement system to encourage members to retire at the age of 62.

5. Reducing the number of committees.

Cost of the recommended program was estimated at $12,000,000 (m) annually. The report argued, however, that abolition of legislative ills and the patronage system "would more than offset the outlay."

Scattered thunderstorms Friday night will herald the coming of much cooler weather Saturday, replacing the high temperatures which accompanied two days of clear and sunny skies, according to the official forecast.

The weatherman also said that the weekend will be quite cool, with warmer weather due to return to the Circleville area Monday afternoon and Tuesday, with more showers by Wednesday.

Morrison, lord president of the council who returned last week from a food mission to Washington, said the agreement averted a threat to the British position in Germany and prevented a breakdown of rationing in India.

The food stocks available for the German zone were so low when he went to Washington, Morrison said during commons debate on the worldwide food shortage, "by today there would not have been a ton of bread and grains left in the British occupied Germany."

Winston Churchill, leader of the opposition, charged during the debate that the failure to transfer food from the Russian zone to areas west of the "iron curtain" in Germany was causing much of the food shortage in the other three occupation zones.

Again, as on two previous days of commons food debate, Churchill heckled Morrison vigorously.

Jacobs previously won fame in Coshocton by "out-flying a human fly." That was back in 1926 when "the fly" with great fanfare, climbed the side of the county courthouse.

Halfway up, he was halted by architectural obstruction. Jacobs immediately took off his shoes and climbed around him to the top of the structure to show "the fly" how the building should be "climby."

War Dead Honored All Over World

By United Press

America rededicated itself to the cause of peace in traditional Memorial Day ceremonies conducted on a worldwide scale from the Anzio beachhead to Yokohama.

Wherever American soldiers have fallen in battle in the 170 years of the republic, there the living gathered to do them honor.

In many ceremonies held throughout Europe, allied dignitaries joined with Americans in decorating graves and pledging their aid in the cause of peace.

President Truman led the nation in tribute by laying a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington national cemetery.

Peace was the keynote of Memorial Day speakers, but there were warnings of the necessity for alert preparedness.

Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commander of the Eighth Army in Japan, said at Yokohama, "all of us—as individuals and as a nation—must dedicate ourselves to a lifelong fight that these men beneath crosses have not died uselessly."

Gen. George C. Marshall, American ambassador to China, pleaded for peace in an address at Nanking.

Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, American commander in Italy, told a crowd gathered for services at the Anzio beachhead, "we hold no hatred for these German dead, nor, indeed, for the wretchedly, misguided country they fought for. They fought hard, to the very end, and many of their traditions are worthy of remembrance."

Opposition Charges America Is Preventing Peace By Helping Nationalists

NANKING, May 31—The newspaper Hisimminpao said today that Nationalist troops had entered the suburbs of Harbin. There was no official confirmation.

Tsinshih, 175 miles northwest of Harbin, is the next objective of the government troops, the paper said.

It was reported that the Communist troops in Manchuria have suffered 15,000 casualties since the battle of Kunminghie.

Meanwhile, spokesman for the Democratic League said today that the United States is participating in civil war in China by transporting troops, arms and ammunition for the Nationalist operators termed a victory for Lewis and a "defeat for the American people." But the operators appeared almost bound to accept the agreement, signed by Lewis and coal administrator J. A.

Krug Wednesday night, if they wanted to regain control of their mines.

As the miners will not work without a contract, strikes would result again if the government released the mines before contracts had been signed with the owners.
It is believed that the government will retain control as long as there is a threat of such strikes.

Some Operators May Quit
The mine operators' negotiating committee studied the contract, but withheld formal comment. There were reports that some were threatening to go out of business before agreeing to the terms, granting the miners a wage increase of 18½ cents an hour, five cents per ton of coal for a welfare fund and other benefits.

Hard coal stocks were threatened by the anthracite walkout, called because the UMW's contract with the operators had expired and no new one had been negotiated. The UMW traditionally does not work without a contract.

The strike against the Hudson & Manhattan railroad was called because the company refused to grant the 18½ cent wage increase provided railroad workers in settlement of the national rail strike last week. Management said it was unable to meet the increase.

Service on the line, which connects New Jersey and New York City by tube beneath the Hudson river, remained at a standstill.
Strikers planned to picket terminals today.

Although there were indications the maritime dispute might be settled before the strike deadline, the conferees did not share the optimism of Sen. Alben W. Barkley, D. Ky., who said the strike might be settled today.

Work Or Draft' Out

If the maritime dispute is solved,
the emergency bill may be shelved.
It was on that basis that the Senate took a Memorial Day recess after deleting the "work or draft" feature of the measure.

Settlement of the maritime dispute also might eliminate any dramatic labor law revision this year, including the union-curbing Case bill already approved by both houses of congress.

bear the scars of the coal strike for many months to come," Small declared.

Some 76,000 anthracite miners in northeastern Pennsylvania, however, struck last midnight. They also are bossed by Lewis. Federal officials here kept in touch with contract negotiations in New York, and were expected to take steps to speed a settlement. They did not indicate their detailed plans.

Fuel Administrator J. A. Krug was reported considering operating the soft coal mines six days a week to meet fuel demands and replenish stockpiles. A five-day week would yield less tonnage than required for the nation's industrial machine for several months.

The six-day week would give the miners $75.25 weekly take-home pay. The old rate was $63.50.

Krug is also considering asking the miners to forego the June 29-July 8 vacation period. The miners would receive $100 vacation payment, up $25 from 1945, in addition to their regular wages if they work this period. They get the $100 regardless of whether they work.

As part of the job of making the contract effective, Krug also faced the problem of choosing a trustee for the health and welfare fund. He and Lewis are to choose one trustee each. The two trustees will pick a third.

One informed source believed that one of the trustees will be a soft coal operator.

FEED INCREASE HIKES COSTS OF OHIO DAIRYMEN

Milk Production Cost Up
Estimated 21 Cents
Per Hundredweight

FOR REPELLING attack by a force of 73 Japs, killing 23 of them, during the battle for Okinawa, Beaufort T. Anderson (above), of Beloit, Wis., has been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. He won it in April, 1945, and was notified of the award on May 23, 1946. Anderson will be presented the decoration by President Truman. (International)

Mr. Christian says that, during the past five years, consumers in the larger Ohio cities constantly increased purchases of fluid milk over the total bought in the same month of the preceding year. Milk marketing systems operating in cities pay the farmer a higher price for the part of the milk sold to the bottled trade than for milk used for any other purpose.

Milk and its products cost the consumer considerably more per unit of food value than some other food costs, so dairy products sell best in a time of general economic prosperity. Bulging pay envelopes in recent years created so much demand for bottled milk that city distributors many times could not meet all demands.

Ohio dairymen were urged by national leaders to maintain or increase milk production to meet the domestic demand and to provide enormous quantities of dairy products for export. The number of dairy cows on farms was increased steadily until 1945; but, even after farmers reduced the national dairy herd by 1,000,000 head last year, milk production was maintained by heavier feeding of the remaining cows.

Mr. Christian says that a delegation of Buckeye dairymen which recently went to Washington to ask OPA for adjustments upward in milk prices to producers found that agency swamped with similar groups from other states. One Ohio delegate waited two and one-half days to get an opportunity to present his case to an OPA official.

DEAF MUTE CAN HEAR AND TALK AFTER FALLING

SEATTLE, May 31—A 64-year-old deaf mute threw away his pad and pencil today and chatted happily with his fellow workers at the Seattle Army service forces depot. He was speaking and hearing his first words since childhood.

Claude Berger's 61 years of silence was broken suddenly and dramatically. The slight, grey-haired man tripped and fell while stacking boxes at his job. The shock of the fall worked a miracle. As his friends rushed to aid him he said, clearly and distinctly, "I feel fine. I can hear a little now." The full significance of what had happened came to him as he was taken to the depot's medical office. He rushed to nurse Anne Fowler, threw his arms about her and cried:

"Thanks to the Lord. I can speak. I can hear."

medical officer, examined Berger and said he undoubtedly had recovered his power to speak and hear from the shock of the fall, which otherwise did not hurt him.

He said he had been deaf and speechless ever since an attack of scarlet fever suffered when he was three years old.

"Every day that I went to work I prayed that I would get my voice and hearing back," he told them. "I had just finished praying when I fell. It's very much all right."

RABIES CASES ARE INCREASING OVER THE STATE

Indifference To Controls Said Big Reason For Spread Of Disease

COLUMBUS, O., May 31—Laboratory technicians at Reynoldsburg and at Ohio State University examined 1,601 animals sent there for rabies diagnosis in 1945 and found 815 of those animals having positive symptoms of the disease. Dr. Harry Mauger, veterinary college, at the University, says that more than 30,000 U. S. citizens took treatment in 1945 to ward off rabies infection.

Dr. Mauger says public indifference to rabies control measure permits rabies to increase in this country although the disease has been eradicated in England, Denmark, Ireland, Norway, and Sweden. Many Ohio people believe rabies can be spread only by dogs, but workers in the two Ohio laboratories last year found rabies present in dogs, cattle, cats, hogs, sheep, goats, foxes, and skunks.

This University veterinarian says any domestic animal can acquire rabies and that one of the disturbing factors in the present outbreak is the number of gray foxes infected with the disease.

Domestic animals may be bitten by dogs or foxes, and human beings can get rabies by having the saliva of rabid horses, cattle, or hogs enter a scratch on the hands or arms.

Animals suspected of having rabies should be confined in a strong enclosure and examined immediately by a veterinarian. Sometimes cattle and horses which have been bitten can be saved by immediate treatment which removes in infective material from the wounds.

The methods suggested by Dr. Mauger for controlling rabies are disposal of stray dogs, vaccination of all other dogs to increase their resistance, strict quarantine of areas where cases of rabies occur, and elimination of foxes in areas where there is rabies. He says that only a strong public support of such measures can eliminate rabies.

Soil conservation practices have been carried out in Wyoming for 32 years by the agricultural extension service.

ST. MATTHEW'S CHURCH MARKS ANNIVERSARY

Lockbourne Congregation To Observe 70th Year Since First Confirmation

Two special services will be held at St. Matthew Lutheran Church, Lockbourne Sunday which will be the 70th anniversary of the first confirmation class received into the congregation, the church being approximately one year old at the time. As a memorial of the first confirmation, a class of young people will be received into the congregation, and in honor of the founding fathers of the church, beautiful new pews will be dedicated on this anniversary.

Lutheran mission work was begun in Lockbourne in 1874 by the Rev. W. H. Brown, pastor of the St. Paul Church. Plans were soon made to build a church and the corner stone for the proposed building was laid in 1875. The original building constitutes the main part of the present structure. On January 2, 1876 the new church was dedicated. The Rev. Brown continued as pastor and the organization became a part of the Ashville-St. Paul-Ringgold Lutheran Parish until 1915 when the congregation united with the First English Lutheran Church at Ashville to form a new parish.

The Lockbourne Church has enjoyed a constant growth in spiritual influence, service at home and abroad, membership, and prosperity. As a result the church was remodeled and enlarged in 1928, and in 1941 the interior was again re-decorated and a fine, new pipe organ was installed. Other recent improvements include the adding of another basement room, redecoration of the entire building, and the installation of new pews.

During the 70 year history of the church the following nine pastors have served the church: the Rev. W. H. Brown 1874-1879; the Rev. B. F. Schillinger 1883-1884; the Rev. D. E. Snapp 1884-1888; the Rev. G. T. Cooperrider 1889-1901; the Rev. F. B. Hax 1902-1907; the Rev. J. B. Ringold 1908-1917; the Rev. A. H. Kuhlman 1918-1923; the Rev. H. H. Glick 1924-1934; and the Rev. H. D. Fudge since March 1, 1935.

Sunday services at 11:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. will be in charge of the only two living ex-pastors, the Rev. Arthur Kuhlman and the Rev. H. H. Glick.

TOO MUCH EDUCATION

COLLEGE education suddenly has become too popular. More than 500,000 youths desiring college education, half of them veterans, will be denied it this September. Interest in higher learning is stimulated by the GI Bill. Nine per cent of those discharged, about 970,000, want to go to college. The number of non-veteran high school graduates wanting college training is about double that of a year ago, or 275,000. Many are influenced by recent draft rulings. More women than ever before, 280,000 of them, want to go to college.

The government is willing to make good its educational promises, to ex-service men. Parents of the non-veteran sons and daughters seem to have money enough to give them these advantages. But the colleges lack facilities to carry the load. Physical plants are inadequate and text-books too few. The number of faculty members has fallen from 114,000 in 1941 to 106,000 now. Government aid to colleges, such as diversion of war buildings and construction priorities, is only a partial solution.

Reconversion Director Snyder estimates an increasing problem up to 1955 when there will be 3,000,000 college students. Alabama, Tennessee and Ohio have instituted guidance systems, diverting students into colleges with vacancies. Most states have done nothing.

All in all this seems a difficult time in which to be growing up. But difficulties in the past have proved merely stimulating to young America. They may even be good for colleges which suddenly find it necessary to make unexpected adjustments to a new era.

ONE WAS GRATEFUL

A Pasadena man, George Church, visited veteran hospitals and selected five double amputees—soldiers who had lost both hands in battle—as recipients of five automobiles with steering wheels so adjusted that the cars could be driven by the disabled men. That was two months ago. The other day Mr. Church died. The automobiles, not yet out of the factory, are paid for and will be delivered soon.

What finer memorial could a man want than the thoughts of those five wounded men as they drive about the country? In these days when money is tossed about so lavishly and so wastefully, they will realize that at least one American spent some of his wealth on the men who had offered their bodies to save his as well as their native land.

Inventing gadgets is a good way to keep people from thinking about important things.

Ramming skyscrapers in New York has lost its zest and become merely an unpleasant habit.

A MINISTER LOOKS AT THE NEWS

By the REV. CARL L. KENNEDY
MEMORIAL DAY, 1946

ON the walls of the barracks at a British army post in Delhi, India, someone wrote the words:

"When war is on and strife is nigh
God and soldiers are all the cry.
But when war is over and peace is sighted,
God and the soldier are quickly slighted."

The soldier's complaint was undoubtedly justified, for nations which have called their young men to arms in time of war have often forgotten them in time of peace.

The other part of the poem is even more true. In the day of danger people call upon God and pray for his help. In periods of ease and security they often fall back into spiritual indifference.

Memorial Day each year comes to challenge us, to call us to do certain definite things. It calls us to remember. We are to remember the brave men of every war who have gone forth from familiar firesides and families to fight a war not of their own devising:

Oh, fool, and how should we know
What it is all about?

Go ask the man who sowed the crop;
We only threshed it out.

We are to remember that many of these men fell, never to return. Why did they fall? Why were their lives taken from them? Whose is the blame?

Suffice it to say that war is nothing more than the summation of all our sins. Our cup of evil overflows, and what is there left but war? As the Apostle James puts it: "What causes wars, and what causes fightings among you? Is it not your passions that are at war in your members? You desire and do not have; so you kill. And you covet and cannot obtain; so you fight and wage war."

Therefore, Memorial Day calls us to remember our sins, but only long enough to repent and learn their lessons.

Again, Memorial Day calls us to adopt the forward look. "Experience is a dear teacher," says an old proverb, but it is likewise, a stupid teacher unless it can illuminate the future as well as the past. After we have remembered the "dear dead," and after we have recalled and repented of our personal and national sins that have brought on the wars of the past, then it is time to forget those things which are behind and to strain forward to what lies ahead.

Memorial Day comes to urge us to look ahead. The mistakes and defeats are all of yesterday. The psalmist puts well this new call of Memorial Day—"This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it."

Roy Smith tells us of Saint Stephen's Protestant Episcopal Church in Chicago, one of the smallest churches in the world—a unique edifice—sometimes called "The Little Church at the End of the Road," because it stands at the end of the street.

Years ago it was in a disreputable section, and the little garden which surrounded it was cluttered with cans, broken bottles, and all different kinds of rubbish than can accumulate on a city lot. But one day a little girl, whose mother had died, came to the rector and asked for the privilege of planting a rose vine beside the church in memory of the dear one departed.

The idea began to "catch on" with the people of the community and other flowers were planted, until now the little church is completely surrounded with a

around to the view that if "we act together we won't get hurt." The last time a pension-for-Congress bill came up, the storm of protests from angered constituents caused the measure to be dropped fast.

But students of government in and outside Congress—including President Truman—have recognized that a senator and representative is underpaid, overworked and without much regard or security for his old age. Men in Congress, it is stressed, should have a retirement benefit system—if nothing else.

So there is a definite move on—some members are convinced it will be carried to fruition—for enactment of a pension law.

OLD-TIME LABOR EXPERTS, both in and out of government, are deeply disturbed by the steady loss in prestige of the department of labor. Some of them have advised Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach that the situation calls for his immediate and full attention just as soon as the current rail and coal disputes are cleared up.

The department's loss of standing is caused in large measure by the administration's policy of handling major industrial disputes at the White House level. Unions have grown accustomed to bypassing the labor department.

THE GOVERNMENT, confronted with food headaches from shortage of grains for export to the famine areas abroad, will have another headache soon—this one involving a surplus food item.

Agriculture department officials are worrying over the anticipated 70 million bushel early potato crop which normally is from 50 to 55 million bushels.

Chances are the government, through the Famine Emergency committee created by President Truman, will start a nationwide propaganda campaign urging people to use potatoes as a substitute for wheat products, particularly bread.

This would help the government meet its commitment of cereal grains to Europe and Asia, and, of course, help use up the bumper crop of potatoes.

Meanwhile, there'll be less pork in the months ahead. The fall pig slaughter is set for 31,500,000 head—a 10 per cent reduction below the 1934-43 average. This reflects the government's move to shorten feed supplies to livestock producers in order to conserve grain for famine countries.

CONGRESS MAY GATHER UP its frayed nerves and, dismissing its fear of a voter reaction at the polls, enact a congressional pension law before it adjourns this summer.

More and more members of the House and Senate have come

SAY WHEN TO COME IN

IT IS UP to you to tell your partner when to play his ace which can block the run of the dummy's otherwise solid suit. You can do it by telling him how many cards you hold in the suit, and simple subtraction then will enable him to reckon exactly how many the declarer has. If you have exactly three cards, play your lowest on the first round, and your next to lowest on the second. With any other number, play a high one on the first trick and a lower one on the second.

EVENTS of sudden and far-reaching significance and unprecedented denouements may prove sensational and at the same time have power to shake the life and its manifold activities to trembling foundations. Not that such means frustration, disaster or evil of any sort, as it may be grasped with such novelty, ingenuity and spectacular craft as to turn all such sudden ventures into high adventure or romantic crises.

Progress, production, fresh ways

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for an exciting, adventurous and dramatic year, in which all aspects and objectives may be suddenly pitched into breathtaking and bewildering crises as to have radical and revolutionary culminations.

WALNUT GRADS VISIT CAPITAL, OTHER POINTS

23 Members Of Graduating Class Return From Eastern Tour

The graduating class of Walnut township school has just completed a tour to Washington, D. C. and Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. Twenty-three members of the class under the sponsorship of Miss Nelle M. Oesterle left early Tuesday morning, May 21, travelling by school bus. Howard Ett, driver of the bus, and the Misses Jean Agler and Lillian Bauer, faculty members, also accompanied the group. The party arrived in Washington Tuesday evening and visited the Lincoln Memorial that night.

On Wednesday morning Dr. and Mrs. Walter E. Brehm, representative of the eleventh congressional district, were hosts to breakfast for the group. Representative Thomas A. Jenkins of the tenth congressional district, was also a guest, and following the breakfast, gave a very interesting talk concerning our government. Representative Brehm entertained the class in the Speaker's Dining Room in the Capitol, a very special privilege for such a group.

Mrs. Brehm accompanied the class through the Library of Congress, the Supreme Court Building and the Capitol where sessions of both houses were attended. Later in the day visits were made to the Smithsonian Institution and the Washington Monument.

Thursday morning tours were made to the Bureau of Engraving, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the National Art Gallery. In the afternoon the group visited Lee's mansion, the unknown soldier's tomb in Arlington Cemetery, Alexandria, and Mt. Vernon, returning to Washington by boat on the historic Potomac river.

Friday the class was permitted to visit as they chose. Some went to the National Zoo, said to be the largest in the United States, others went to the large department stores, while others returned to the Senate to hear Senator Joseph Ball discuss labor legislation.

The group arrived in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania Friday evening, and a tour of the battlefield was made Saturday morning. A stop was made at Washington, Penn., Saturday night, and the class arrived home Sunday evening. The class wishes to express its appreciation to Miss Oesterle and others who made the trip possible and to Representative Brehm for his personal interest in the group during their stay in Washington, D. C.

ROBSON GRABS BIG HONORS IN SPEEDWAY RACE

Favorites Forced Out Of Memorial Day Run To Let Unknown Win

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 31.—George Robson, of Los Angeles, a slender little guy who never before had been able to collect a dime from automobile racing's richest event went on the gold standard today as the result of his victory in the 30th renewal of the 500-mile Memorial day event at the Indianapolis Speedway.

Robson was ready to greet the track banker and collect one of the greatest single hauls ever made by a driver. The mild and modest motorist flashed home the winner yesterday in the first post-war renewal of the "500."

He parlayed the driving skill acquired in 15 years of racing, much of it on the dirt track circuit, and a trim blue Thorne engineering special that held together while the majority of the sport's finest creations literally were falling apart on the track, before the eyes of 175,000 fans.

The Californian covered the 500 miles in four hours, 21 minutes and 16.71 seconds for an average speed of 114.820 miles per hour. His victory netted him the first prize money of $20,000 and to that he added a lucrative $13,800 out of the lap money and approximately $10,000 in accessory and endorsement money.

Robson's victory was a hard earned one and he was pushed right down to the finish by Jimmy Jackson, 33-year-old Dearborn, Mich., driver.

Jackson chased Robson most of the way and finished a scant 44 seconds behind. Jackson earned $10,000 for his second place finish.

Third place went to Ted Horne of Paterson, N. J. Emil Andres of Chicago was fourth, and a car in which Joe Chitwood of Reading, Pa., started was fifth. Chitwood was relieved late in the race by Sam Hanks of Alhambra, Calif. Hanks' car had lasted only 18 laps.

Only two other cars completed the 500 miles. The drivers in the order of their finish, were Louis Durant, of Los Angeles, and Gigi Villares of Milan, Italy. Frank Wearne of Pasadena, Cal., took eighth place when he was flagged after 198 laps.

Ninth place went to Bill Sheffer of Los Angeles, who was flagged after 138 laps. Sheffer, going only slightly faster than the normal "Sunday driver" out for a spin in the family car, trailed the winning Robson by 175 miles when officials waved him in.

For his leisurely spin Sheffer collected $1,500 in prize money.

Tenth place was awarded to Billy Devore of Indianapolis, on the basis of having completed the most laps of the cars forced from the race. Devore went 166 laps before he crashed at the head of the straightaway when his throttle stuck.

The nine cars still able to roll under their own power at the race's end were the fewest finishers since 1921.

The early leader as expected, was Ralph Hepburn of Van Nuys, Cal., but when Hepburn was forced to the pits for repairs Robson pushed to the fore and stayed there almost continuously. Robson grabbed the lead when Hepburn went to the pits after the 56th lap and only for two laps thereafter did anyone get ahead of the ultimate winner.

Hepburn went to the pits to stay after the 121st lap. The other pre-

HANK'S HOMERS PACING TIGERS

Reds And Indians In Split Over Holiday; Red Sox Keep American Lead

NEW YORK, May 31.—They said the big boy was through, that he had given his best baseball years to Uncle Sam and that by July 4 he probably would be out of the Detroit lineup.

Today Hank Greenberg left the gloomy prophets with no choice but to sit down at a not-to-palatable meal of their own words.

He is tied with Joe DiMaggio for the major league Homer lead, with 11. His batting average of .257 isn't imposing, but 24 of his 84 hits have been for extra bases, giving him a slugging percentage of .593, second high in the league. And he has driven in 28 runs, tops for the team.

It was big Hank's day yesterday at St. Louis where he hit three homers as the Tigers divided with the Browns. He hit two of them in the first game and drove in four runs to back up Dizzy Trout's pitching in a 7 to 2 win. His third Homer spoiled a shutout for Denby Gahouse, who pitched a sixhit to 1 victory for the Browns in the second game.

At Boston, the rolicking Red Sox stayed six-and-a-half games ahead of the Yankees by trouncing the skeptical Senators 6 to 5 and 7 to 2. Glen Russell and Ted Williams got Boston homers and Jeff Heath hit one for Washington.

The Yankees kept pace by beating the Athletics twice at New York, 6 to 1 and 6 to 3, getting 25 hits for the day. Spud Chandler won his seventh game in the opener, homers by Tommy Henrich and DiMaggio backing him up. The Yankees made 15 hits, all singles, as Floyd Bevens gained the second victory.

Bob Feller pitched his fourth shutout and seventh victory at Cleveland, blanking the White Sox, 3 to 0, to end a four-game winning streak which began with the debut of Ted Lyons as Chicago pilot. He gave up eight hits. Bill Dietrich and Ralph Hammer countered by pitching a 4 to 0 Chicago shutout. Hammer took over when Dietrich got a "tummy ache" in the fourth and preserved the shutout. He got credit for the victory in which he also drove in two runs with a single. Frankie Hayes of Cleveland and Hal Trosky and Wally Moses of Chicago hit homers.

Spectators were dismayed and disgusted at the showing made by the Columbus team. Isaly's scored at will and had an 18-6 margin before the score keeper lost count.

According to the Columbus manager their ace pitcher was hurling in a night league game at Columbus, while their second pitcher failed to put in an appearance, although it was reported that he had left to come to Circleville.

The game was scheduled to go nine innings but was called at the end of the seventh to spare the fans any more agony than they had already gone through.

Three accidents occurred during the race. Paul Russo of Cleveland, Ohio, Mauri Rose of South Bend, Ind., and Devore were the drivers involved. Russo suffered a fractured left leg, but the other two escaped with minor injuries.

Circleville Residents Observe Memorial Day Holiday Quietly

PARADE MARKS OBSERVANCE OF HOLIDAY HERE

Many Visit Relatives And Friends; Farmers Take Advantage Of Sun

Tread of marching feet in the annual parade, impressive rites in Forest cemetery, and the decorating of war heroes' graves throughout Pickaway county, highlighted the observance of Memorial Day in the community.

Friday morning the citizens resumed their normal activities following the holiday on which banks, financial institutions, most factories and stores and other business places, county offices, post office, state liquor store and the public library remained closed all day.

Honoring the nation's war dead a patriotic parade led by the Circleville High School Band passed through the streets in the morning and the marchers proceeded to Forest cemetery and to the soldiers' mound.

Dr. W. L. Sprouse, East Main street, was the principal speaker at the Memorial Day exercises. He eulogized the war dead. Members of veterans' organizations and their auxiliaries tenderly laid flowers on the graves. Graves throughout the county were similarly decorated.

Many holiday celebrants went on motor and fishing trips, some attended the automobile race at the Indianapolis Speedway, some picnicked, and still others visited relatives and friends in other cities. Others merely spent quiet restful day at home.

Ideal weather stimulated observance of the holiday and a lot of farmers took advantage of the sunshine and tackled work that had been delayed by the recent incessant rains.

NAVY VETERANS NOW SERVING IN REGULAR ARMY

Benjamin Schwalbauch, Navy veteran, has enlisted in the regular Army for three years and now is receiving his preliminary training.

S/Sgt. R. H. Kuhn, who is in charge of the Circleville building, announced that Schwalbauch will be assigned to the military police corps and stationed somewhere in the European theatre.

The new soldier received his education at Pike Run, Ohio, enlisted in the Navy during the war and saw service in the South Pacific.

Schwalbauch will learn a trade and be assured of an income for his wife and two children while in service.

GRASS SILAGE EXPECTED TO BE MORE POPULAR

COLUMBUS, O., May 31—Rainy weather is credited by poultry husbandry experts at Ohio State University with helping poultrymen produce better quality eggs because moist air slows down evaporation from within the egg shell. Eggs which have lost any considerable amount of their natural water content go into the lower grades when candled.

The University poultrymen advise Ohio flock owners to cull the layers so each 100 layers are producing at least 60 eggs per day. Higher feed prices make the close culling necessary if the farmer is going to get any profit from his poultry enterprise this year.

Professor Willard says good silage can be made from most meadow grasses or mixtures and that storage in the silo saves a lot of feed value which is lost when the crop is made into hay. Grass sil-

WORST LOCUST PLAGUE IN HISTORY HITS SARDINIA

TO COMBAT AN UNPRECEDENTED "INVASION" of locusts in Sardinia, UNRRA has shipped 10 tons of cammexane, a new and powerful insecticide of the DDT family. Reports estimated that 250,000 tons of wheat might be lost if the plague is not controlled. The insects cling to the sunny side of houses, left, blanketing whole sides of the buildings. At right, Sardinians fight the locusts with primitive weapons by sweeping them with brush wands into tarpaulin, then gathering them up and beating them to death with spades. (International)

MOVIE OUTFIT NOW AVAILABLE FROM RECRUITERS

The U. S. Army Recruiting Service now has available a public address system and a movie projector for use by any organization sponsoring a sport or social event, S/Sgt. R. H. Kuhn, in charge of the Circleville recruiting office announced Friday.

Capt. Thomas J. Madigan, Jr. former Columbus high school and semi-professional athlete who is now assigned to the Columbus Army recruiting station has charge of the address system and movie projector. He also has at his disposal an ample supply of films which have recently been released by the War Department for public showing.

Any organization which is desirous of using either of the above are invited to call at the Army Recruiting Office, Room 102, Old Post Office Building in Columbus, Ohio or call S/Sgt. Kuhn, Army recruiter, who has an office in the VFW Building, at 217 North Court Street in Circleville.

RAINY WEATHER PUTS BETTER EGGS ON MARKET

COLUMBUS, O., May 31—Rainy weather is credited by poultry husbandry experts at Ohio State University with helping poultrymen produce better quality eggs because moist air slows down evaporation from within the egg shell. Eggs which have lost any considerable amount of their natural water content go into the lower grades when candled.

The University poultrymen advise Ohio flock owners to cull the layers so each 100 layers are producing at least 60 eggs per day. Higher feed prices make the close culling necessary if the farmer is going to get any profit from his poultry enterprise this year.
